

INTERIOR DESIGN YEARBOOK 2026

Edited by Alexandra Bushby

Foreword by Liz Bell, Chairman, BLID

CURATED SANCTUARY

Located in one of New York City's most exclusive and architecturally celebrated towers, this private residence for entrepreneur Chris Burch was conceived as a refined yet inviting urban sanctuary. Located in the limestone-clad tower designed by Robert A.M. Stern, this elegant home is more than just a place to live; it is a curated experience. The brief was to create a home that could welcome colleagues, friends, and family alike, with that in mind, DH Liberty embarked on a creative journey that included antique hunting in Paris and the integration of custom pieces from the Dara Maison furniture collection, co-developed with Burch. The residence is defined by its high-polished plaster walls, calming off-whites, and baby blue accents, intentionally chosen to reflect Burch's personal tastes. The interiors are layered with mid-century inspired silhouettes, vibrant contemporary artwork, and hand-selected Parisian antiques that bring character and soul into the space. Floor-to-ceiling windows frame dramatic views of Central Park, imbuing the space with a seasonal, immersive atmosphere.

This project was designed by DH Liberty and completed in 2023.

